

I am opposed to any weakening of Indiana's telephone privacy law. Life in Indiana has been much better since the implementation of Indiana's telephone privacy law. This law protects citizens from intrusion in their home by all sorts of businesses, both legitimate and shady, for the purpose of telephone marketing. If we want to contact a business to hear a sales pitch, I assure you, we know how to. We don't need for them to call us and interrupt our home life just to try to sell us something, or tell us of some new service they can provide. Let them buy advertising space somewhere that won't interrupt my privacy.
